Looking for Beau and Delfi

The project's aim was for students to discover and appreciate Europe's culture, its attractions, its languages and its history. This was done by finding out where in the world are Beau and Delfi through clues that lead to a activity left at both participating schools.

The project started in January 2015, and in February 2015 developed on a collaborative web space. After it ended in June 2015, evaluations were given in October-giving the project a lifespan of 10 months.

The project partners:

The project founders are Nick Shekkeris from Cyprus and Camilo Rodriguez Macias from Spain who met and collaborated on previous projects together and continued this collaboration through eTwinning.

“The project was enjoyable for all the students involved because of the many diverse and interesting activities that were done. Many students, teachers, parents and members of the local community were involved.”

-Nick Shekkeris
