Read the world

In the project “Read the World” our students had the opportunity to discover the world of People and Nature, to build their knowledge and social skills on the inspiration of the book “Gruffalo”, written by Julia Donaldson.

This is the third project of collaboration for the Icelandic, Spanish and Polish schools, since meeting at an eTwinning contact seminar in Poland, this year also collaborating with schools from Slovenia and France found through the eTwinning portal.

The project lasted from September 2014 – June 2015.

Reading the World is possible through various channels - in a multi-sensual way, in an environmental and social context, in contact with nature and technology, but also within the inspiration of literature – taking this all in a challenging and worthwhile eTwinning collaboration – we let children read and think about the World as a common place.
